London Artist has Work Auctioned Alongside Robert Bateman

LONDON, ONTARIO - February 2, 2011 - Local London landscape photographer Jennifer Squires is slated to have her photograph, Lake Erie #9, auctioned off alongside that of world renowned wildlife artist Robert Bateman. Tickets are now available for The Burlington Art Centre's annual Art Auction February 11, 2011 at 8pm.

The Burlington Art Centre's premier fundraising Art Auction features 96 pieces of original Canadian fine art, ceramics, sculpture, and wood craft. This year's auction includes the work of local London landscape photographer Jennifer Squires, along with Robert Bateman, Chris Bacon, Paull Rodrigue, Gisele Comtois, Brian Darcy, Conrad Furey, Ted Harrison, Kimiko Koyanagi, E. Robert Ross, and many more.

Jennifer Squires' peaceful seascape photograph, Lake Erie #9, will be among the pieces auctioned next week. Captured in Port Glasgow, Ontario, an hour southwest of London, on a drizzly November evening; the seaweed covered rocks and old wooden rails leading out into Lake Erie combine with cool, muted tones and a modern ethereal glow make Lake Erie #9 her most contemplative image to date.

Presented as an 11x14 inch traditional photographic print with a white mat and a black 16x20 inch frame, Lake Erie #9 will be lot 3 at The Burlington Art Centre Art Auction. Lake Erie #9 is also available in other sizes online at www.jennifersquires.ca.

The evening begins Friday, February 11, 2011 at 6pm with a cocktail reception that leads into the auction itself at 8pm. Auction pieces can be previewed February 9th and 10th noon to 9pm and February 11th noon to 5pm at The Burlington Art Centre or anytime online at www.thebac.ca.

The Burlington Art Centre is located at 1333 Lakeshore Road at Brock, Burlington, Ontario. Tickets are available online for $35 for Burlington Art Centre members, $40 for the general public, and $75 for both the auction and the pre-auction cocktail reception. More information is available on The Burlington Art Centre website at www.thebac.ca.
